Town Manager's Report October 18, 2016

Construction Update - South Street Sidewalk: The Public Works Department reports that this long awaited project is approximately 60% complete. We are awaiting final paving and final site cleanup and finishing touches, which are expected to be complete in the next two weeks.

Construction Update – South Freeport Village: This project is still on the schedule for this fall, although it has been pushed back further than expected. Construction work and paving on Middle and Park Streets is expected to occur the week of 10/31/16. Weather permitting, construction and paving of Main Street is expected to occur the week of 11/05/16. Should temperatures not permit (temperatures below 45 deg. F), work on Main Street South Freeport will not begin until springtime.

Pushcart Prize-winning author DEBRA SPARK to speak on her latest novel UNKNOWN CALLER

Wednesday, Oct. 26, 6:30pm
Debra Spark is the author of four previous books of fiction, and her short work has appeared in many outlets, including the Boston Globe, the Chicago Tribune, Esquire, Food and Wine, the New York Times, and the Washington Post. "Intricate, Pinteresque, and wholly compelling, Debra Spark's new novel spans countries and decades, messes with time, and continues to upend everything you thought you knew about the characters. It's masterful and I devoured it." - Lily
